LADY EGLANTINE FEATURE OF SHOW 314 EGGS

This Week's Exhibition Notable for Side Show at Imperial Hotel.

The Palace Poultry Show, which as its name indicates is held in Grand Central Palace, will begin on Tuesday and will last through Saturday. A! though it is called a poultry show the chicken will not have a monopoly, as this particular affair opens its doors to cats, song birds and pet stock of various kinds

While the show is going on at the Palace the Hotel Imperial will hold a that laid 314 eggs in 365 days. Lady Eglantine will spend her daylight hours at the Palace in a coop, big enough to hold her and a uniformed guard. Her book value of $100,000 is the excuse for all points of the compass, and the combination in the various classes is sur bination in the various classes is sure to be keen. Among the more prominent cats which have been entered by their owners are champion White Witch, a peaceful looking pure white creature owned by Mrs. I. J. Kitchen of New Rochelle; champion Kinka Jou, owned by Dr. Mary Jones of Boston; cham-pion Major Warwick, an orange Per-slan from New Rochelle, and Starlight which hails from the establishment of which bails from the establishment Mrs. Clara N. ENGLISH HENS NOTED FOR STAYING POWERS

Always Make Fine Records in Egg Laying Contests in This Country.

Stones, Conn. D c. 4 .- The hens in he laying contest it Storrs gave evidence of real progress in the fourth; week. The total yield for this period amounted to 1.590 eggs, which exceeds y 250 the yield for the preceding week and is 419 eggs better than the production in the corresponding week a year ago. The foreign pens have to be reckoned with. It appears that the Englishmen can always be depended upon to send birds that will lay well; not only this, but they are wonderful stayers they not only start at the beginning of the contest, but stick to it throughout the year. It is a matter of history in all the laying competitions in this country that the English birds are among the last to quit at the close of the year. Will Barron's White Leghorns from Bartle, England, were first for the week with a yield of 44 esgs. Tom Barron's White Wyandottes from Catforth, England, were in second place with a production of 39 eggs, and Jules F. Francais's pen of Barred Rocks from West Hampton Beach, L. I., made third place with 38 eggs to their credit. Seven hens, including Barred Rocks, White Wyandottes, Rhode Island Reds, White Leghorns and Oregons made perfect indihey not only start at the beginning of dottes, Rhode Island Reds, White Leghorns and Oregons made perfect individual scores in the fourth week by laying seven eggs each.

Yot every poultryman who sends birds to the laying contest seems to be able to select the pullets best suited for the purpose. The records for the fourth week showed that the extra or reserve highs for the records for the fourth week showed that the extra or reserve.

birds for twenty-nine pens laid a tot of 125 eggs for the week, whereas these same twenty-nine pens there were anywhere from one to four or five pu-lets that produced no eggs at all. The extra eggs could not of course 1 counted in the totals because they were ladd by reserves rather than regulars. Thus it is apparent that with better selection in the beginning the pens in question would have been credited last week in the aggregate with 125 additional eggs or an average increase heatly 19 per cent, for each pen
